Spring Producers Training Course

Grafton Community Television is proud to announce the 2022 Spring Producers Course.

Residents, employees, and business owners of Grafton are all eligible to take part in this course free of charge. The Spring Course will teach all aspects of TV production and give students the tools they need to create their own program. This will be a hands-on course, which will allow participants to take part in local televised events, either behind the camera or in front of it!

The course will begin in April 2022, and all training will take place in our local Grafton studio, at 26 Providence Road, Grafton, Massachusetts. Cable Studio Staff will be available to guide participants through the steps to bring ideas to life.

This course will be limited to five participants. However, the course will take place even if all slots are not filled. Contact Robert DeToma for more information, phone 774-551-5778 - or - email detomab@grafton-ma.gov
